Out Of Control

Hold Onto Your Dream

Not too tightly or it might break.
Not too loosely or it might slip away.
If you don't have a dream yet, be patient.
Your dream will find you.

FOLLOW YOUR OWN STAR

There wouldn't be a heaven full of stars if we were all meant to wish on the same one.

Know that there will always be dreams that are grander and humbler than your own.

But there will never be another dream like yours- for you are unique, and more wondrous than you know.

ALWAYS DO YOUR BEST

There are no shortcuts on the way to a dream.

Give all that you have to all that you do.

Don't worry if you make a mistake.

The only people who never fail are those who never try.

But neither do they ever succeed.

If at times you feel discouraged,

LOOK TO YOUR STAR

It was born to shine brightly here in the darkness, just as you were born to dream and never give up.

HOLD ONTO YOUR DREAM

and believe in yourself.

This is all your dream asks of you. But this you may put OUT OF CONTROL.

Hold onto your dream.

Were You There?

When you began settling into those mid-summer doldrums—did you ever wonder what other people were doing to keep their lives full of excitement? Towards the end of July, children and adults alike began flocking to the Third Annual Community Days at Kunkle Park in Washington Township.

The event, which encompassed the last weekend in July, had activities to enlighten everyone's day. The festivities included food and craft booths supported by local community groups such as the Boy Scouts, the Oklahoma Ambulance Service, the Kiski Area Girls Basketball Boosters, and many more. The Beaver Creek Blue Grass Band and other local musicians provided the entertainment for the people who attended. Everyone who was present at the park was invited to participate in activities ranging from children's games to volleyball tournaments and horse-shoe pitching. Overall the Kunkle Park Days were a huge success.

The township's recreation commission hopes to see you at the bicentennial celebration this year in July.

Here We Go Again

RIGHT: A lone Cavalier fights for extra yardage in the game against Plum.

BELOW: Jennifer Swanderski psyches herself up for an eagerly awaited Band Competition.

"Out of control," a phrase sometimes used to describe a teenager's perception of life, may be an apt description of returning to school at the Big "K."

The night before the big day is always filled with anticipation. The freshmen may think they are the only ones who have fears, but even seniors become anxious.

The first day is an awesome display of mass confusion with students trying to see friends they have not seen since last year. There is always a freshman or two who are totally lost and have been forewarned not to ask anyone for directions, because they might be told to use the mysterious elevator.

For the first weeks students and teachers must try to adjust to each other. Each teacher is unique and expects something different. There are more demands to be met, but the adjustment is soon made, and going back to school is now under control.

You're Bound To Be In Style

It's "anything goes" as far as fashion is concerned at Kiski Area. There are so many different styles of clothing that no matter what you wear, you're bound to be in style. There's the classy, sloppy and new wave look to name a few. The "sophisticated lady" at Kiski Area would wear such accessories as scarfs, which can add excitement and flair to any wardrobe. The "classy guy" would add pizzazz to his acid washed Levis with a colorful button down shirt and/or crew-neck pullover. The sloppy attire consists of oversized, faded-out jerseys and sweatshirts and loose, baggy pants. Some girls even think that men's clothing is appealing and comfortable. Some Kiski students intensify their style with the abstract, but interesting new wave look. Regardless of how you dress, everyone's individual style gives Kiski "Fashion Pizzazz".

Dressed in comfortable style, Michelle Allison wants just one more minute.

Cristine Brothers and Ron Harnish take on the casual look for the Friday night football games.

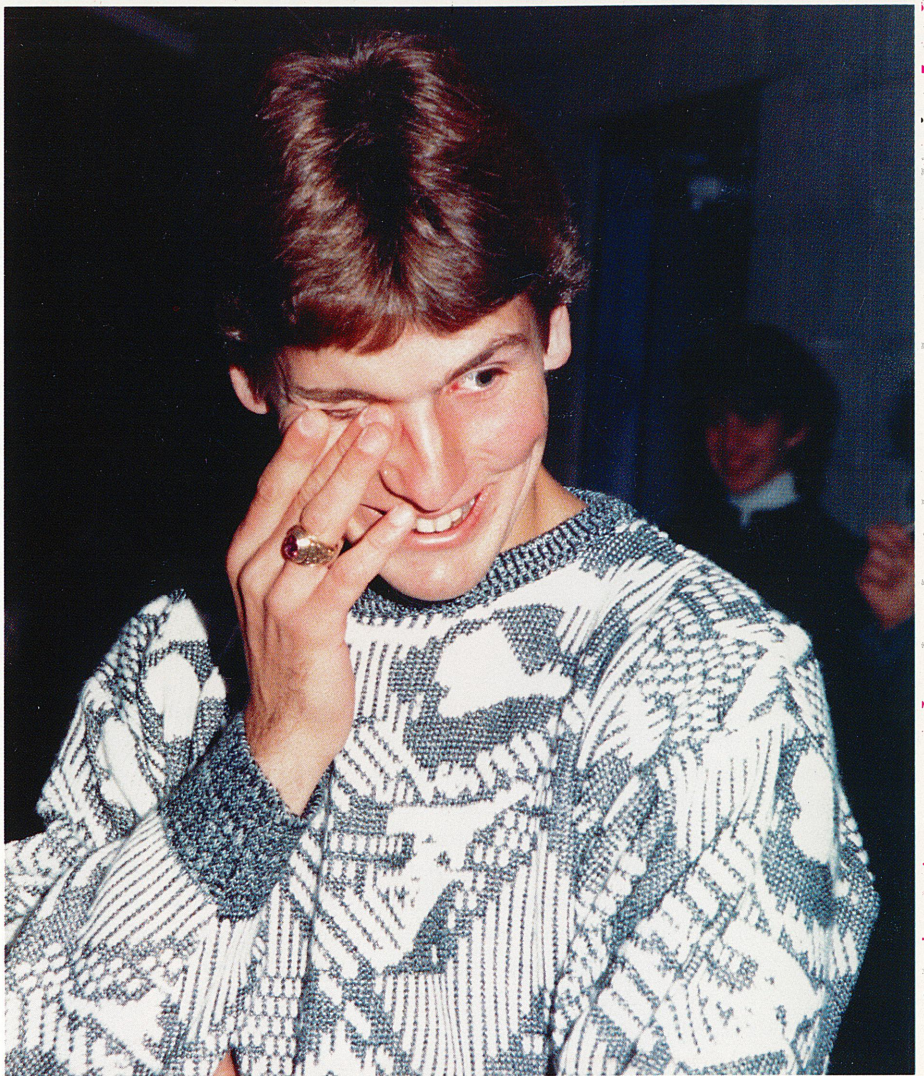

The wild look consists of men's boxer shorts and a loose sweatshirt. Anything goes is the motto for Shelley Wolfe and Terri Pierce.

In a fashionable knit sweater, Art Miller gives us a glance at the guy's choice.

Jennifer Angiulli is keeping warm for the fall season in an informal sweater over a button down shirt.

Julie Parker came to Kiski to inspire us to go with our hearts. Her assembly seemed to accomplish its goal, when students and faculty alike enthusiastically participated in her singing and dancing.

Julie is part of a tour group called "Impact." This band hopes to make lasting impressions upon young adults to encourage them to steer clear of drugs. They tour schools across America with 8-10 assemblies a week, using some new songs and some familiar ones.

Julie realizes that it's hard for kids to stand up to peer pressure. Yet, she feels when you do right—the "win" feels great.

"It was a privilege to sing to you guys . . . What a blast!!! I'll never forget you. I wish you all the best . . . But what I want for you most of all is a good life. Do what you know is right and follow your heart. It's not always easy, but it's worth it—You're worth it. Just say No!!!"

God Bless!

Julie Parker

Julie Parker encourages crowd participation when she performs at an assembly. She often pulls teachers and students from the crowd to sing with her. She also dedicates songs to particular persons such as P.J. Kuruc and Justin Matontic, or a group like the senior class. These unique methods incite teenagers to be open-minded and at ease while receiving her message.

Energetic and enthusiastic are two adjectives that describe the performances of both the Marching Band Auxiliary and the Jazz Rock Ensemble. To complement their acts, they received new uniforms this past year. These awesome outfits not only light up the stage, but also show off school spirit with blue and gold colors.

The Marching Band Auxiliary switched from their traditional uniforms to the jazzy unitard. These sensational outfits project the Auxiliary's movements and provide a more sophisticated look during the band's performance.

The new outfits of the Jazz Rock Ensemble add the extra spark to an already electrifying performance by these talented singers.

Everyone enjoys the groovy sights and sounds of these two great groups.

TOP LEFT: The construction workers furiously work to meet the deadline for the school.

The idea of bringing all of the 7th and 8th graders together was thought of by the five year Long Range Planning Committee. Although the building will be self sufficient, many of its facilities, such as athletic fields will be part of the entire Kiski campus.

Intermediate school students will stay exclusively in the intermediate building, but will have the advantage of special assemblies and teaching techniques which can easily be shared with the high school.

The new building will have four lab rooms, two for earth and space and two for biology. It will also have computers for the students to use.

The seventh and eighth graders are not the only students that will receive advantages. Elementary students will be moving to Vandergrift and Allegheny-Hyde Park Intermediate buildings with Adams, Wilson, East Vandergrift and North Vandergrift closing.

*Dr. Pipman
On behalf of the 1989 Campus literary staff, I would like to extend our sincere thanks for all your time, dedication and effort for us. We really appreciated it!
Thanks again!
Kevin Barger &
the 1989 Literary Staff*

Very few people realize exactly what goes on behind the pages of the Campus Yearbook. Invisible to the public eye are the countless hours spent after school cropping pictures, writing stories, drawing pages, and double checking everything over and over again.

The Campus staff consists of the executive, literary and production staffs and the camera crew. Offering guidance and knowledge, the executive staff had the most experience and wisdom to share. Being responsible for all stories and articles, the literary staff makes sure the purpose and accomplishments of all organizations and sports teams are known. The cropping of photographs, laying out of pages, and the overall appearance of the yearbook is attributed to the production staff. All of the pictures in the yearbook are taken by the staff photographers. They can be found at almost all sports events, walking through the halls, and at all important occasions that need to be remembered.

Many ideas and thoughts from every member of the staff, are used in the formation of a theme. Each year the ideas are taken from a fervent yet aspiring brainstorming session where everyone writes down the first thought coming to mind, whether it be wild or delirious. This enables the theme to be original as well as a contribution from everyone.

Not only does the staff create the yearbook, but they also raise the money to pay for it. Through donut sales, parent patrons, and generous local businessmen, the extreme costs of the yearbook are met.

The staff tries to include anything worthy of recognition which embodies subjects ranging from odd to fanatical, and tries to depict all aspects of student life which often times are eccentric. All of this was made possible by Mr. Greg Balla. Without Mr. Balla, who has devoted as much time, if not more, than anyone on staff, the yearbook could not have been produced.

All the hard work, dedication, and time devoted to making the best yearbook possible pays off in the form of pride when it is finally done. Because the yearbook is created by and for the students, the enjoyment and memories that it will bring back in future years make it all worthwhile.

Dr. Millie Pipman is always around to let Kevin Barger and other staff members know when their writing has gotten out of control.

Due to two enterprising photographers, Charlie Anderson and Albert Anderson, the Campus has a lot of unique shots.

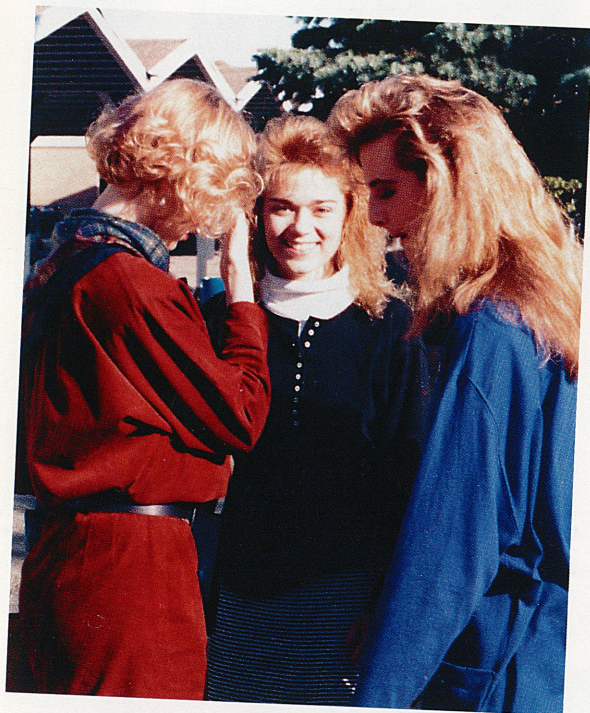

Greg Balla works closely with Tacie Tonks to try to improve the Campus.

Becky Moneymaker displays surprise and innovation in all aspects of yearbook-ing, even donuts!

Seniors

Right-Another invigorating day of higher education begins.

We began our long journey as the first freshman class to attend Kiski Area High School. The first day of our freshman year seemed to last an eternity because we did not know what to expect from one minute to the next. We were looked upon as the youngsters and could be singled out throughout the school. Our biggest hopes included fitting in and being accepted by the older students. As the years progressed, we became accustomed to the people and our role in the whole process of education at Kiski Area.

Since our beginning we have progressed into the people we are today. We have become the leaders, and now others follow behind. Realizing that we can make major decisions on our own, we can be excited about our future. The extent of our dreams is out of control, and we are eager to move on with the next step in our lives. We possess the hopes that may someday become reality.

We, the Class of 1989, have grown from the inside out and discovered that we have the right to make choices for ourselves. We are all recognized as individuals but know that we must come together in the end. By facing everyday situations as one, our limits are beyond control.

Our group includes the doctors, lawyers, secretaries, teachers, and industrial workers that will allow society to advance. Each will play his own part and take with him the fond memories of Kiski Area.

Right-Seniors relax in the sun.

The 1988-89 Homecoming Queen was crowned on Friday, October 7, 1988. It was a typical autumn evening, except for the excitement that filled the air. In honor of the special event, there was a parade in which the 1987-88 Homecoming Queen, Kierstin Lang, the Homecoming Court and their escorts participated. Each member of the Court was dressed in a glamorous style when they arrived at Davis Field in convertibles.

The final minutes during the first half of the game against North Catholic elapsed. The crowd, including the Kiski Alumni who returned for the spectacular event, wondered who would be crowned the new Homecoming Queen. The band took their places on the field and began to play as the court was introduced. Heidi Orvosh and Cliff Myers, Melanie Poleski and Justin Matonic, Stephanie Chizmar and Scott Baustert, Ruqaiyah Jordan and Andy Holupka, Kelly Kiebler and Doug Gruber, and Angela Ghiardi and Dan Wehrle anxiously walked down the fifty yard line as they were greeted by their parents. The tension grew stronger and a sudden hush fell over Davis Field.

The silence was suddenly broken by the loudspeaker announcing Heidi Orvosh's name. Kierstin Lang, the former Homecoming Queen, placed the sparkling crown on Heidi's head with pride. When asked how she felt when she was crowned Queen, Heidi replied, "I really can't explain the feeling, except to say I was very honored."

On Becoming A Senior

Last year my friends, who were seniors, all appeared so melancholy. I told them and myself "Come my senior year I will be shouting for joy over getting out of here." (How mistaken I find I was.)

Entering the senior halls and hanging out in the senior building all seemed so far away my freshman year. I realize now that time has arrived too quickly. Now I am the senior saying hello to the ending of many things: friends, teachers, security, but most of all dependence.

Since I became a senior all of my friends seem so much more important. A person I have never before spoken to suddenly turns out to be my best friend.

This year everyone seems to care so much more. We all finally decide we like each other.

The teachers have actually turned into friends and mentors in our eyes. When once we fell asleep in class, we now actually find a teacher's story of life events bearable. We are now seeking our teachers' advice, recommendations or even help. Possibly it's that they have grown in the past four years, but probably it's that we have.

At one point in time I was convinced I was filled with wisdom. In my realization that I have much to learn, I have gained a mile on my road to real wisdom. The security and dependence I once felt I needed to fight so desperately is now being stripped from me. I am yet again that unsure, scared kid I had once thought I conquered. I know that this insecurity of myself and my future will all be resolved. Until then I stand wishing I could be a sophomore or junior, yes, even a freshman once again to give myself a little more time to just be a kid.

Yet, the time has come for me to be a senior. I will take hold of every friendship and relationship to support myself on my way. But most of all, I will grow, into being a senior . . .

Lisa Fiorina is hard at work, knowing that her life's work has just begun.

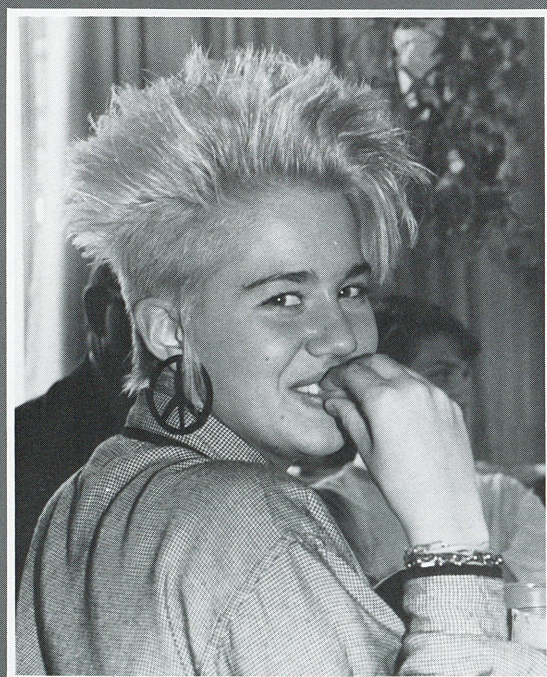

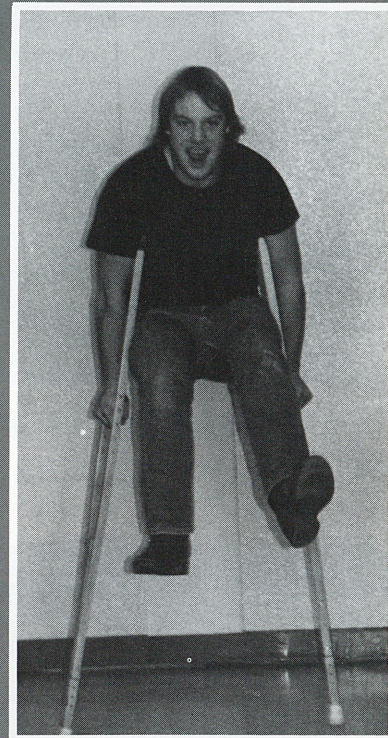

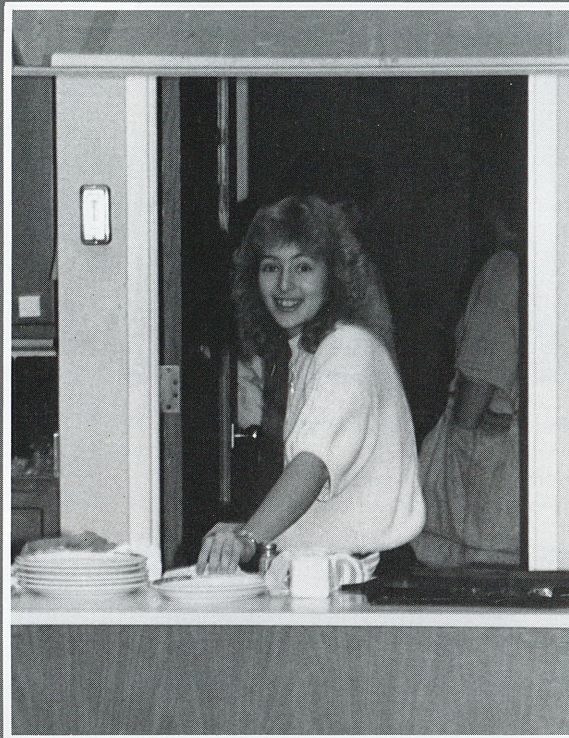

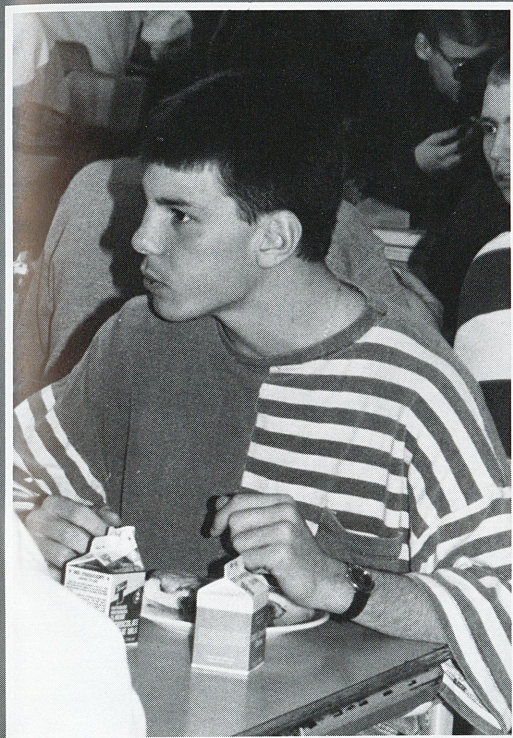

A night of pleasures and memories is built by Lorrie Krug. Prom time is a special memory in the hearts of all seniors.

RIGHT: Yet another "out of control" lunch scene.

RIGHT: Leigh Shrader must try to tell Kevin Croney that he can see better with his eyes open.

Bottom: Laura Stange's eating habits are out of control at a football game.

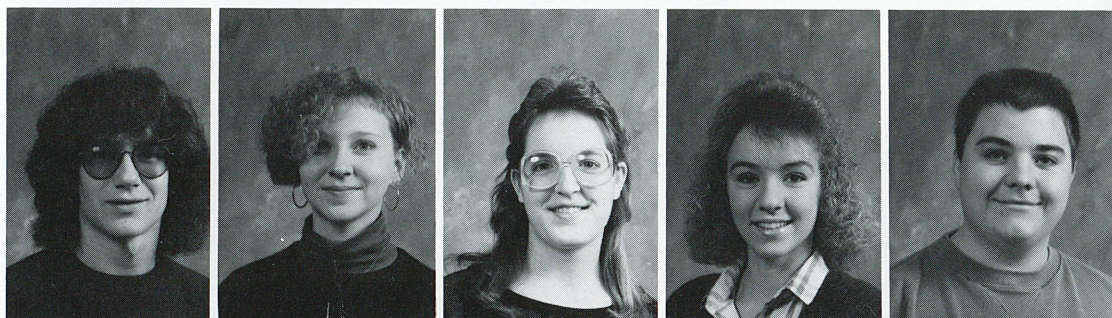

Along with the other junior classes that have preceded them, this year's Junior Class followed a tradition of excellence and success passed on from years of great students ahead of them. The juniors are extremely active and take part in various organizations. If sports, homework, music, candy sells, or the prom did not occupy enough of their time, they were running to a meeting here, there, or somewhere.

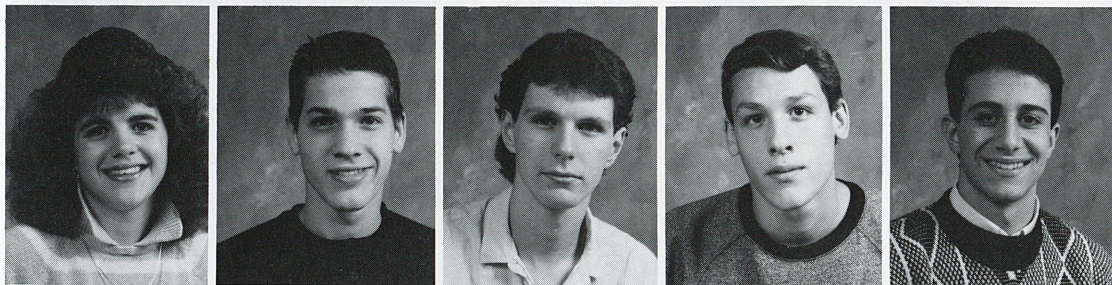

Although everyone was busy and things were hectic, this Junior Class realized that their success later depends on hard work now and in the near future. They wanted the better grade, they put in the extra effort, and most of their hard work will benefit them later.

Next year will be a memorable one filled with anxiety, happiness, and worry. For the class of 1990 will be walking out of Kiski and into their future.

The sophomore year is a time for growth and involvement. No longer are sophomores newcomers to the high school; they now are accepted members of Kiski's family. The middle of their high school years is the time that these students are beginning to become more deeply involved in academics and extra-curricular activities. Striving to become future leaders of the school, each drives to the goals he or she has set. Throughout the year these students practice leadership and planning skills necessary for leaving Kiski's halls and entering the world.

As in the years before it, the freshman class began this year scared and wide-eyed at the enormous size of the "Big K." The new worries such as being late for class and getting lost were present in their faces for the first couple of weeks, but soon these fears disappeared. Each student found his or her own place and began to feel at home here among the new faces and surroundings. They became involved in various activities to suit each individual which greatened their feeling of finally "fitting in." This is a time of many adjustments for the class, but these changes were handled quite well. They have shown that they are able to overcome many of the difficult obstacles which every freshman class is forced to face.

Sports

Only Time Will Tell

As the spring sports season approaches Kiski Area, the student body prepares for the new sports. One of the outstanding chances available to sports enthusiasts at Kiski is the baseball team. The 1988 team had a record of 5 wins and 13 losses and was coached by Dave Giunta and Jack Jewart. The team was highlighted by a very dedicated, hardworking, and close group of seniors. There were also many concerned and talented underclassmen on the team. Jason Klazon, senior member of the team, felt that the underclassmen will be prepared to have a great season next year. The young team will have a chance to flourish next year because of their excellent potential.

The Heart To Win

For the past several years, the girl's varsity softball team has never had a winning season and went virtually unnoticed. That all changed this past year. Under the coaching and guidance of James Trunzo, the team made a complete turn-around. The games started to draw crowds and the lady Cavs received great support from the spectators. In just one year, the girls went from a last place finish to co-champions of their section.

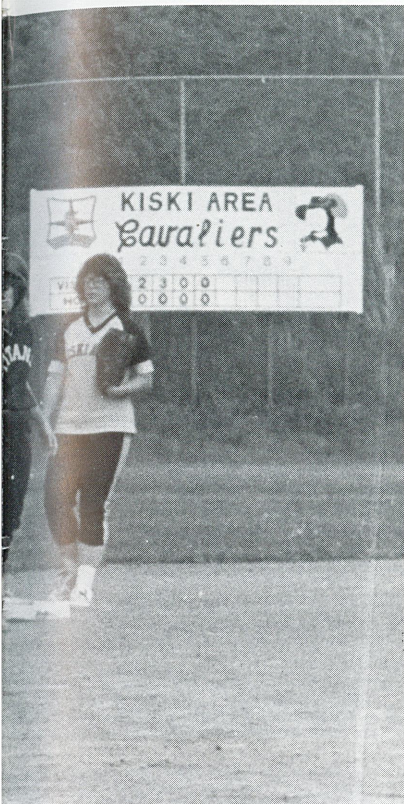

The climb to success started in late February, when everyone had to realize that the upcoming season would be difficult. Every girl had to be willing to give one hundred percent of effort, mentally and physically. Each player worked toward the goal of establishing themselves as real contenders. Most of the credit must go to coach Trunzo because he became the girls' friend as well as their coach. Enthusiasm was present in every drill at practice. No one cheated when running steps, nor did they take the easy way out when learning new techniques, for they knew everything done right would benefit them later.

In each game, an air of pride could be felt as the girls played. They felt confident in their ability and their record proved it. Instead of arriving at the opponents field feeling intimidated, every girl walked with her head held high and they became the intimidators.

The J-V team, too, practiced hard in anticipation of being a part of the varsity team in 1989. Next year, with all but two lettermen returning, plus new members from the J-V team, the girls have their sights set on sole possession of the section title. With their talent, coaching, and desire, the goal can easily be met.

Striving To Be The Best

The Kiski Area Track Team is setting high standards. For the past several years the track team consisting of 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th graders has become stronger and more competitive. Starting in March and continuing through May, the boys and girls were seen running many miles, jumping, sprinting, and throwing javelin or shotput. The long hours spent after school and on Saturdays paid off and members of the team were awarded for their dedication with the section title.

Many lettermen are returning next year and have high hopes for repeating as champions and establishing themselves as a competitively feared team in the WPIAL.

Swinging With Competition

A different and exciting aspect to the Kiski Area Athletic department is the golf team. Beginning early in August, those boys who enjoy golf went out for the new team. Their coach Albert Veselicky, led them through a vigorous camp of basic routines and techniques which eventually led the members to quite a productive season. Their winning record is positive proof that hard work and dedication really do pay. One of the biggest goals of a golf team member was to receive the lowest score possible. The players were playing under the guidelines which considered the five lowest scores as a team score rather than individual scores. Awesome players, a concerned coach, and terrific teamwork contributed to their successful year. The team was able to quickly adapt to new rules and ideas, and they were ready to take on a challenge. Members of the golf team had a chance to excel in their games, and they were given a new experience to add to their athletic background.

Each day after school, the tennis team has worked hard to gain experience. Putting into use exercises such as sprinting, warm-ups, and practice matches, the team finally felt prepared to meet opposing teams on the courts. With the progression of the year other progress was noted; the team had improved since its amateurish beginning. Holding a final record of 5 wins and 9 losses, Louis Santia, the coach, felt that the team was successful. Most significantly he feels this way because, "the team has learned the ins and outs of cooperation and teamwork."

Up And Coming

Cross Country is a very demanding and grueling sport. Any cross country member must be truly dedicated and have a great deal of self-discipline. The boys' record was 11 wins and 1 loss, and the girls' record was 5 wins and 4 losses. Starting practice in the middle of August, the team was ready for action. The exhausting workouts and strenuous runs helped the team members prepare for the successful season. The team was backed by the supervision and guidance of George Argyros. With strong determination, Derrik Salsgiver and Dan Wherele went to the state Championships. George Argyros, their coach since junior high said, "Congratulations guys. You've made it."

Personal Best

This year, Kiski continued its excellent sports tradition with the football teams: ninth grade, junior varsity, and varsity. With three teams, the learning process was made easier because of the vast experience the players can gain from their teammates on any of the three teams.

First of all, the varsity football team began grueling practice in the heat of August, when temperatures were sometimes well into the 90's. The team won their first game, but went on to lose the next three. The team enjoyed the challenge of new and better teams, and they had fun just playing the game as they were taught. Coach Richard Dilts was proud of his team because, as he said, "Through it all, they didn't quit!"

Next to the varsity team, the junior varsity team practiced hard to reach their goal of a winning season. Despite the fact that they lost their first game, they pulled together because they knew that a winning season was not beyond their ability. When push came to shove, the team worked as one, and they succeeded by winning the rest of the season.

Finally, the ninth grade football team started practice in late August. As the season progressed, the team continually improved their playing. With the help of Coach Tursky, they finished the year with a 4-2 record. As the year drew to a close, Coach Tursky felt that the team was a real winner, and they are definitely ready for the J-V team next year.

Wrapping It Up

The Kiski Area Soccer coaching staff led the teams for a second year trying to develop the skills needed for a good team. Overall, the teams showed dedication and hard work which is essential for a sport. The future looks to be very promising for the teams and the coaching staff: Adel Heder, Tom Arnold, Joyce Cignetti, and Howard Magee

Reaching For A Goal

Skill, determination, and zeal: these were the characteristics of the 1988-1989 boys and girls soccer teams. Adel Heder, the boys coach, and Joyce Cignetti, the girls coach, had high expectations for their teams this year. The athletes executed solid moves, showed stamina, and most experienced players guided the rookies, as well as providing encouragement. Jerry Ferraro, one of the boys captains, and Debbie Kepple, one of the girls captains, agreed that this past season, both teams were a dominant force in their section.

Setting A Precedent

This year's varsity volleyball team ended its season at third place in their section with eleven wins and five losses. Also, those students who did not make the team were given a chance to play on the J-V team, while interested freshmen could also play on the junior high team. One of the things that all three teams worked on this year was their attitude. The players concentrated on working together as a team rather than playing as individuals. The teams accomplished many things this season of which they are proud. The one thing that they are most proud of is the progress made by each member of the teams. There were many talented players on the volleyball team this past season, and by working together as a team, they always had a good game as well as a great time.

Gaining Experience

Kiski offers a wide variety of sports to its interested students. Students are able to participate in sports in the fall, winter, and spring. One of the more exciting sports in the winter is the boys basketball teams. The boys who made the teams were skilled and ready to go, but many lacked the experience necessary to be successful players. To conquer this obstacle, the hard workouts began. After seemingly endless hours of exercise, running, and conditioning, the boys began practicing their new found knowledge.

Members of the varsity team had the hardest job because of the stiff competition that they were to face during the season. Unfortunately, the team was young and inexperienced which also caused their workload to be heavy. As the season progressed, the members, under the direction of Samuel Intrieri and Larry Rupert, began to work more as a team, thus giving the underclassmen the needed experience for next year. According to David Fields, senior captain, "the team was inexperienced, and we will look forward to better things in future years."

In addition to the varsity team, the junior varsity and ninth grade teams also had dedicated members. They too began their hard work to become successful teams. Despite the injuries and mishaps, the members of the team enjoyed their year as they gained their experience. With the help of coaches Larry Rupert and Jack Jewart, many hours were spent improving physical endurance and stamina. Members of J-V and ninth grade have learned the basics of the game, and next year, the boys will be able to utilize this knowledge as they become the new junior varsity and varsity teams of 1990.

Up And Down But Not Down And Out

The Kiski Area Lady Cavs are made up of dedicated girls who learn the special techniques needed to play basketball. Over the years girl's basketball has become more widely known and many female athletes are joining this exciting sport.

As for Kiski, the girls' work began early in the summer. Playing in tournaments and participating in camps, the girls started to learn that playing basketball would not be easy. Hard work and long practices were examples of the ingredients needed to produce a good team. The ninth grade Lady Cavs had yet another very successful season finishing with a 15 and 1 record. Coach Tom Pipkins led the team starting work in August and finishing in October. These young Lady Cavaliers have a bright future as they move ahead to the varsity squad.

Joining with the older girls in November, Tom Pipkins started another basketball season. Assisted by Greg Foreman, Coach Pipkins worked with the ladies to condition and prepare them for the upcoming season. Senior members Angie Hugahan, Debbie Kepple, and Lisa Romanowsky led the team through a very hard-working season. (Even with many injuries, the Cavs proved that time, effort, and dedication gives good performances.) These girls have greatly improved their record over the years, and the future of the Kiski Area Lady Cavs looks to be very bright with all of its fine talents.

Expect The Unexpected

The Kiski Area Wrestling Team, under the direction of Chuck Tursky, has pulled off another season that proved to be rewarding and a step up for the team. The tradition of aspiring athletes and dedicated coaches had endured for yet another year.

After moving from Section 5AAA to Section 1AAA, a more competitive section, vigorous practices, intense matches, and enthusiastic attitudes typified the boys successful season. "After making the move to a more difficult section, our motivation was to prove that we should not be taken lightly," remarked senior Gary Thompson. Psyching themselves up for the matches was only half the battle for Kiski wrestlers. Over the summer, and especially throughout the season, these athletes lifted weights, ran steps, and ran for distance. Before the matches, their adrenaline was pumping in preparation for the wrestle-off to determine the competitors for the match. An aspect to this sport that not many people realized was the eating habits the wrestlers undertook. For days before meets, the wrestlers abstained from food to maintain their weight while trying to pump themselves up.

The Kiski Area Wrestling program is off to a great start with an abundance of aspiring individuals. The standard of excellence set by this group of athletes will no doubt be kept in years to come.

Strokes Of Perfection

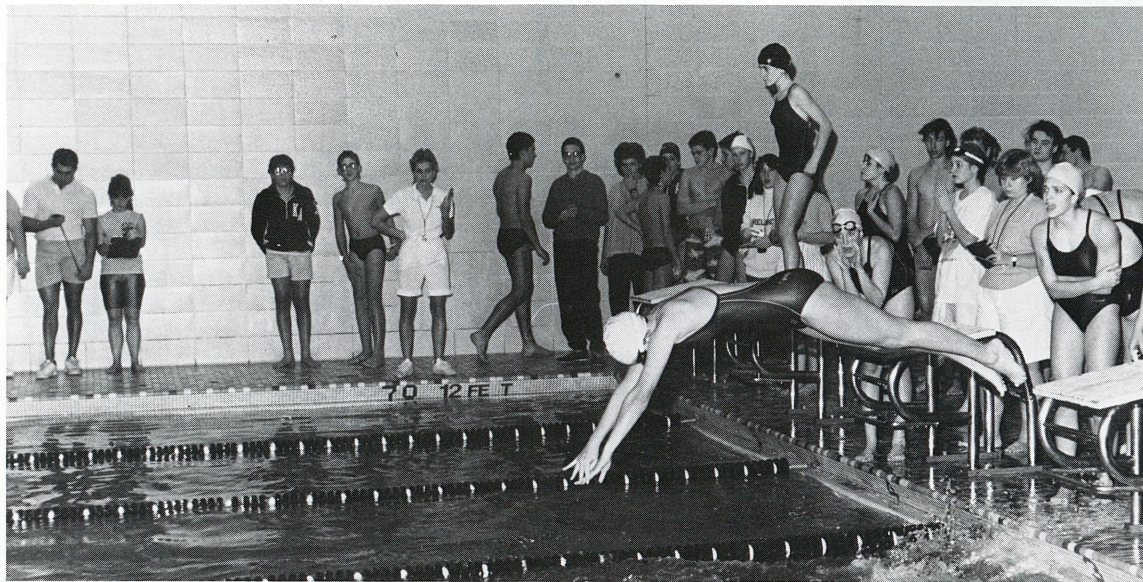

Swimming is one of the most demanding, time consuming, and strenuous sports available at Kiski Area. To be a swimmer, one must be willing to practice long hours and give one hundred percent of themselves physically and mentally.

The Kiski Area Swim Team has proven what dedicated and driven individuals they are. Starting in October before actual season even began, swimmers, both boys and girls, started conditioning through weight lifting running for endurance, and playing water polo. Members of the team got up at 5:30 a.m. to make an optional 6-7:30 practices before school which many attend to the regular practice after school. Practices were physically exhausting to the swimmers who had to cover 5000-7000 yards a practice.

The boys team consists of many strong swimmers, a few of which were lost due to graduation. There are, however, young and promising swimmers who will shine in the years to come.

The girls team consisted of a lot of young talent that has just started to flourish. All of the girls will be returning next year and have their eyes set on the section title. Even though they fell short this past season, they were well represented at the WPIAL championships as were the boys.

Those on the teams said all the hard work and sacrifices proved to be worthwhile.

Cheering For The Cavaliers

The Kiski Area Cheerleaders provide the motivation for the football players, wrestlers, and girls and boys basketball players. In unison with the KA Band, the cheerleaders danced and cheered to psyche up the crowd and the team. During pep rallies before the big games, the cheerleaders did their best to motivate the students and promote school spirit. The Jayvees performed in the shadows of the varsity girls preparing themselves to take over the show next year on the varsity squad. The ninth grade cheerleaders also worked hard to promote school spirit. They participated in Band Night and cheered at the ninth grade football and basketball games, as well as the girl's varsity basketball games. The school continues to look to the cheerleaders in order to maintain Kiski Pride.

Clubs And Activities

Cavalier Band

One Of The Top Ten Bands In America

"In ninth place with a final score of 85.80: The Kiski Area High School Marching Band." As the band stood in front of more than 25,000 people in Pontiac, Michigan, these words announced our band as ninth in the nation. This great honor, however, was not the only joy that the marching band experienced. Prior to this competition, the band placed first in all competitions and invitational, including the Eastern Regional held at West Virginia University, where it was crowned grand champion. Also, the Cavaliers captured the state title from the 25 year defending champion in November. Rehearsals began in June, with only one night a week, but at the end of August, band members traveled to the school daily for eight hour rehearsals. Rehearsals continued, after school resumed, on Monday evenings, and Thursdays after school. In addition, they performed at all ten Cavalier football games as well as numerous festivals. Band members spent between 18 and 20 hours weekly preparing for their endeavors. Whether the band was at a game or a national competition they strived for the best: unity as a group both on and off the field.

Symphony Band

Symphony Band

This year's symphony band has had yet another successful year. Under the direction of Michael Lamendola, the musicians have been kept busy performing. Their first performance was the mid-winter concert on February 16. The band also participated in an adjudication festival at Indiana University on March 7. Along with the other bands at Kiski they took part in the PMEA Adjudication Festival in April. April was a busy month for the band because they also performed with the Duquesne Wind Ensemble. They were selected over many other bands for the honor to play in the invitational. The band presented their annual spring concert in May. Members of the symphony band are involved in honors, county, district, and regional bands. It is truly an honor to travel to represent the school at these affairs. The entire symphony band worked hard throughout the year and their accomplishments were enjoyed by many.

As the marching band season comes to an end, the concert band soon got underway. Under the leadership of Scott Koter, the band worked diligently and had yet another fulfilling year. They first performed in the mid-winter concert in February. In April, the band took part in the PMEA Adjudication Festival which took place at Kiski Area. Many schools attended the festival and our concert band gave a commendable performance. The band finished the year with their annual spring concert in May which entertained all of their family and friends. The year proved to be a successful one for the concert band.

There are many opportunities to perform for the talented musicians at Kiski. Not only do Kiski band members have many musical experiences here at Kiski, but they also can become involved in musical groups outside of the school.

Each one of the band members gave up a lot of their time to participate in these various bands. The experiences that they had were invaluable in that they had the chance to go beyond Kiski and find more students with their common interests.

NINTH GRADE HONORS BAND

This year's Alle-Kiski Junior High Honors Band was held in February at Freeport High School. 40 ninth grade band members participated in this group which was comprised of seventh, eighth, and ninth grade students from schools in the Alle-Kiski Valley. The students appreciated the opportunity to meet new students and to work together for a spectacular performance. Also, some of the students were privileged enough to go to other honors bands such as county and district later in the year. All of these fine accomplishments are yet another tribute to the Kiski Area Music Department.

Close-Up With John McClelland

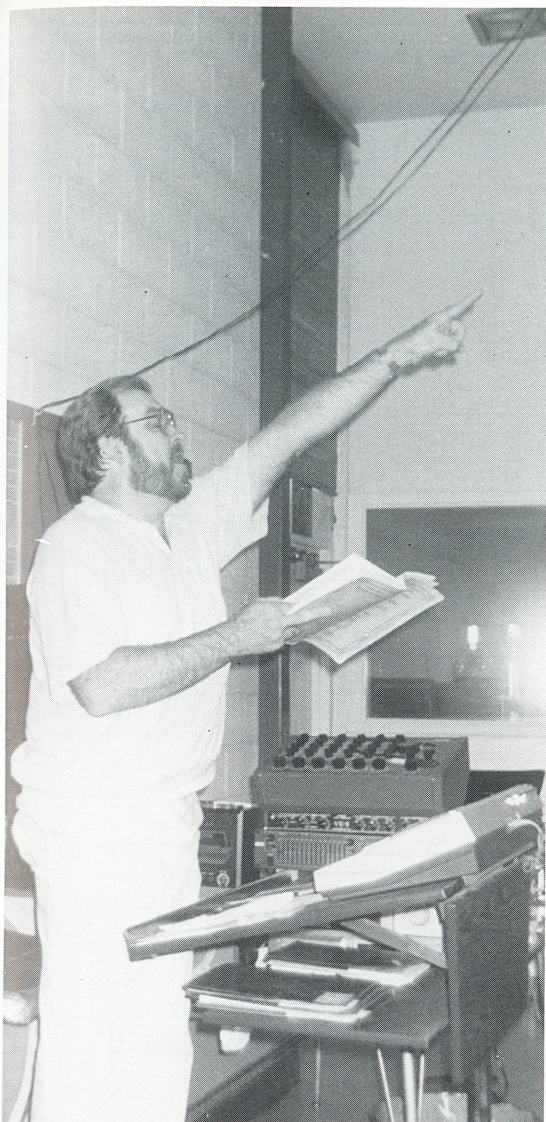

To John McClelland, who has been teaching chorus in Kiski Area since the school district opened, there is no greater feeling than the final cut-off at the end of a performance when he knows in his heart that the chorus has done well. He spent his first three years of teaching at Bell-Avon High School which has since become Bell Township Elementary School. Although he has taught in all three former junior highs and agrees that junior high students are more enthusiastic, McClelland definitely prefers to teach at the high school. "The students have more developed talents," he says. Mr. McClelland wishes he could somehow incorporate the junior high enthusiasm with the senior high talent. Although there is always room for improvement within the choir itself, McClelland believes that Kiski has the strongest choral program in the area. By scheduling as a full credit course, the administration has been exceedingly helpful. With such cooperation, McClelland is able to create a choir that is worthy of receiving awards such as a superior rating at the 1988 Adjudication Festival.

Mr. McClelland's most memorable experience involves a young man who, because of perseverance and dedication, after a slow start, was able to become one of the best soloist that he had ever seen. "After both seventh and eighth grade I suggested that he pursue other interests, but he begged for another chance. He hung on my every word—a perfect student but he had a terrible ear. Then halfway through ninth grade his voice began changing and everything seemed to come together." His senior year, the concert ended with a song titled, "Without love you are nothing at all" (by Tom Jones) which included a solo sung by that young man." He has since then majored in music in college and is now a chorus teacher like McClelland. "Things like that are not easy to forget!" he says. "It taught me to have more patience with the inexperienced singer."

Anyone who has spent one day in the chorus room while McClelland is teaching can easily see what irks him most. His biggest pet peeve is people with talent who fail to use it to their fullest ability everyday. He demands so much from his students simply because he is so dedicated.

Every year there are rumors to the effect that Mr. McClelland will soon be leaving us. He has been looking into it but never fear, Cavalier Choir, he will be back next year.

CONCERT CHOIR

The Concert Choir involves students in grades 11 and 12. This group of dedicated performers rehearsed every day during second period. The Concert Choir presented two concerts this year, one at Christmas and another in the spring. The choir also participated in a number of choral festivals throughout the year. Those students involved in the Concert Choir worked hard at what they did, and it certainly showed in their performances.

Mixed Chorus

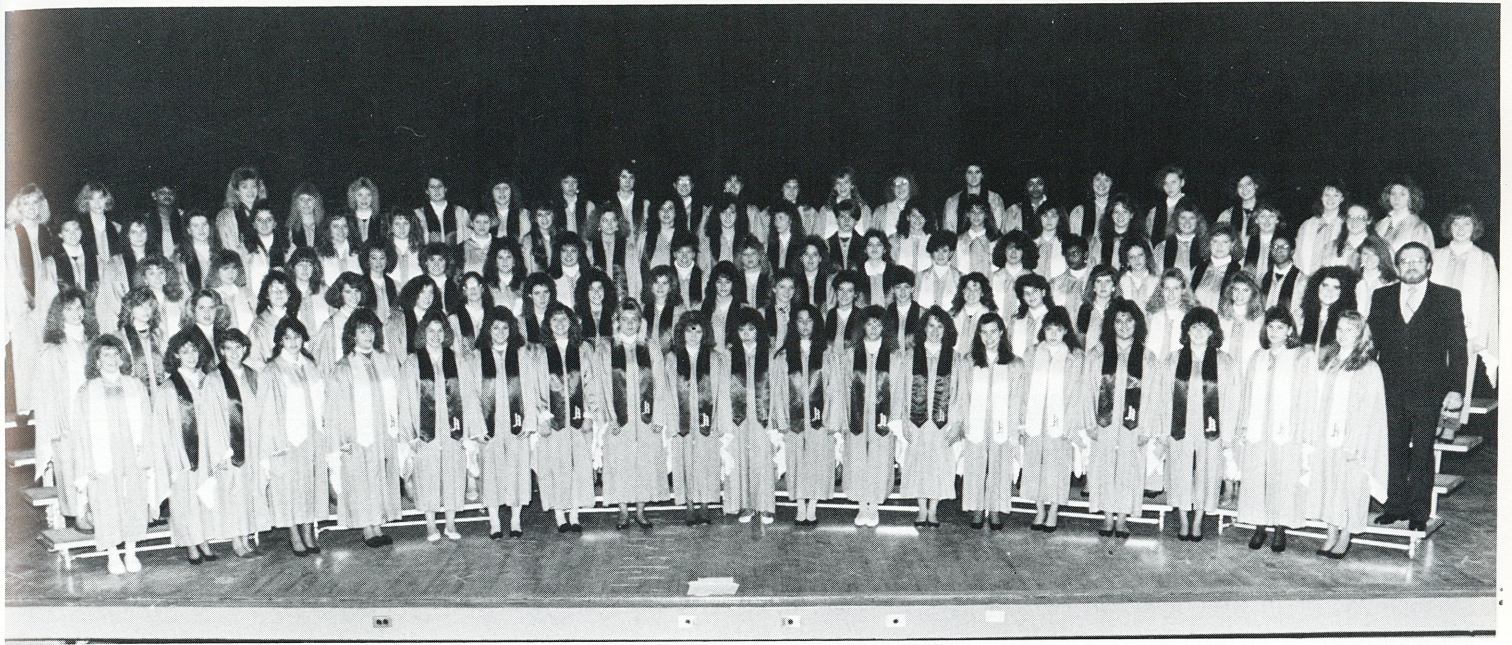

MIXED CHORUS

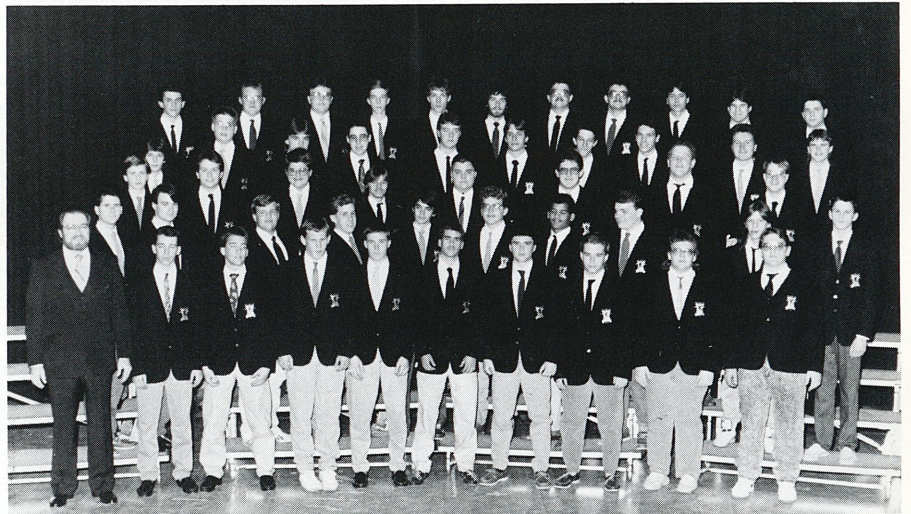

The Mixed Chorus is made up of students in tenth grade. Along with performing on their own, this choir also joined up with the Concert Choir for the Christmas and spring concerts. The Mixed Chorus also attended other choral activities throughout the year. These hard-working students rehearsed each day in order to prepare to become a part of the Concert Choir in their junior year.

COUNTY CHORUS

It is, indeed, quite an honor to be selected to participate in the County Chorus. Any student in the Concert Choir had the chance to audition with the hope of being chosen to attend this festival. Those who showed an exceptional amount of vocal talent and enthusiasm during daily rehearsals had the chance to be a part of the County Chorus.

DISTRICT CHORUS

One of the greatest honors a choral student receives is to be chosen for District Chorus. Paul Baker, Hope Evans, and Todd Paulat were the members of the Concert Choir who were selected to participate in the festival this year. These students certainly worked hard for this spectacular honor, and they have much to be proud of.

Ninth Grade Chorus

NINTH GRADE CHORUS

Those students who are freshman and are interested in singing can also participate in a Cavalier choir. The ninth grade chorus worked diligently during rehearsals this year. At last, these interested students had the chance to find out what it was like to be a member of a famed Cavalier choir. Everyone in the choir found his involvement to be an enjoyable part of his freshman year.

Student Council

The Student Council, under the guidance of Max Israel, has served the school well. Two representatives from each homeroom attend monthly meetings. The ideas and opinions of the student body are expressed in these meetings. The annual telethon, the yearly senior citizen's banquet, and a gong show were special features of their success. This year's members, with leadership qualities and devotion, have shown a lot of style. The student body supported the hard work done by the group, and the goals of the year were reached.

A Major Role

Members of the Debate Club contribute their feisty style to Kiski. They sponsored our Mock Trial Team, which was consisted of twelve club members. They also planned interscholastic debates with other area schools. Club sponsor Ronald Norton also selected a competitive debate team to compete at Humanities Day at the University of Pittsburgh, Greensburg campus. The Debate Club's President was Brian Ray, with other officers as follows: Susan LaRusse, Vice President; Khieta Davis, Recording Secretary, and Mollie Breakey, Corresponding Secretary.

DRAMA CLUB

The Drama Club, directed by Regina Wichrowski, has shown great theatrical talent this past year. This select group of students took on new personalities as they stepped on the stage. Members felt that these chances to experience drama gave them a chance to express their individual talents and interpretations. All performances have continued the Big K tradition of excellence, and in all cases, the club went on the theory that the show must go on.

Standing Out Among The Rest

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The members of the National Honor Society are chosen on the basis of good character, service, leadership, and scholarship. These students were selected by a panel of teachers that reviewed their grades, activities, and teacher recommendations. In order to be considered, the students had to have at least a 3.40 GPA. Throughout the year, members of this club held many coffee houses and other fund raisers. Near the end of the year, new students were chosen and were introduced during a candlelight ceremony. This year, the members chose as their officers: Jennifer Spolar, President; Donata Hunt, Vice-President; Allison Lengauer, Secretary; Frank Duriancik, Treasurer; and Chad Vittone as Historian. The club sponsor was Ruth Filer.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The Thought for the Day Club brightens up each student's morning by announcing an inspiring quote or phrase. Five students were selected to be members of this club by the guidance counselors on the basis of grades and attendance. Before a final decision was made, they had to also be recommended by three teachers. The club's sponsor was Max Israel.

GIFTED FORUM

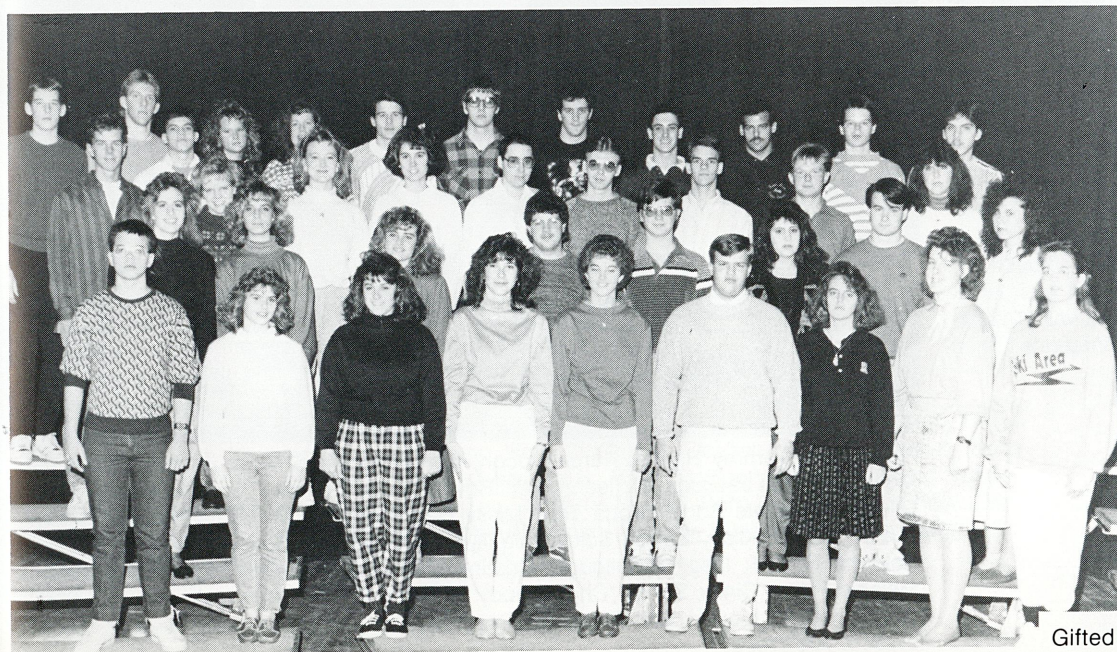

The gifted forum consists of those accelerated students who wish to gain additional knowledge which is not available in the everyday classrooms. They are taught by Ronald Norton, John Varine, Greg Balla, and Catherine Scales in English, science, history, and mathematics respectively. Guided by their sponsor, Anthony Nicholas, these students could meet various times during the week to discuss chosen issues and plan in-depth projects to help in the learning process. They attend various field trips during the year to gain valuable knowledge which can be used in their future.

F.B.L.A.

The Future Business Leaders of America is a club that helps in preparing students for the future. Thomas Schaeffer was the sponsor of the club which was involved in many activities. The F.B.L.A. members participated in regional business competitions that involved such skills as accounting, office practice, typing, public speaking, shorthand, business math, and English. The top three winners of each category then went on to the state competitions. The F.B.L.A. also picked the Business Student of the Month. They sold hoagies and managed the pop machine in the teachers' lounge to raise money for the events that they participated in. Being a member of this club gave students an idea of what is to come in their future in the world of business.

STUDENT SECRETARIES

The student secretaries are an immense help to teachers. Business students were assigned a specific teacher to assist by business teacher, Richard Cappel. These secretaries were then given various jobs such as typing, using a computer, or anything else that their "boss" requested of them. The quality of their work was also evaluated. This activity provided valuable experience for those students who are interested in a secretarial future.

OFFICE SECRETARIES

Business students can be seen almost every period of the day assisting in the main office. The office "secretaries" gave up their activity periods and study halls in order to be of aid in the main office. Their duties were to help the secretaries by running errands and delivering bulletins in which they became overburdened with work. Carol Patterson and Sandy Pedatella, high school secretaries, felt that the students were a very big help this year.

LIBRARY AIDES

Have you ever wondered how Ted Kulas can keep track of all the information in the library? The answer is a few dedicated students. These students were willing to give up study halls and activity periods in order to help prevent things from getting out of control. To facilitate the burden, different jobs were assigned to the aides such as checking books in and out, sending overdue notices, running passes, and keeping the bookshelves in order. The Library Aides were a tremendous help to Mr. Kulas, and without them, Kiski students would be deprived of a great resource.

S.A.D.D.

Students Against Driving Drunk, an organization created to promote awareness of the serious problem of driving drunk, took members this year who were always ready to work. These chosen individuals were able to involve themselves in various activities such as speaking to various community groups and a cupcake sale. Under the direction of Kevin Barger (President), Bruce Young (Vice President), Kim Lowes (Secretary), and James Carroll (Treasurer), the club was able to decide the steps to take to help the community improve their safety habits. As Kevin said, "The ideas for activities are endless, and finding those which are not beyond reach is the biggest challenge." Throughout the year S.A.D.D., under the direction of Harry Brenneman, was able to provide messages to the students throughout announcements and posters especially around the holidays. The club insured the prom to be a safe one by distributing messages to the floral shops and local formal attire stores to pass on to their classmates. S.A.D.D. did all that was possible to promote their organization, but everyone had to contribute to make its efforts a success because friends don't let friends drive drunk.

Y.T.S.C.

The Youth Traffic Safety Council is a branch of Students Against Driving Drunk. Those students who belong to Y.T.S.C. must also be members of S.A.D.D. They are selected after review of their application by faculty and administration. Kevin Barger presided as president with Allison Lengauer-vice president, Cindy Shields-secretary, and Laura Magness-treasurer assisting him.

Under the guidance of John Woitas, the club went all out to campaign against drunk driving and encourage seatbelts. Several times a year, members were seen in front of the main drive, early in the morning, surveying seat belt wearers. The decorated bulletin boards, found throughout the administration building, stressing the importance of seatbelts can also be credited to Y.T.S.C.

"Buckle Up" signs were posted by Y.T.S.C. members at various locations along the Kiski campus to persuade the use of seatbelts by students and faculty.

The Youth Traffic Safety Council contributed a great deal to the promotion of safety at Kiski Area High School. It informed students and encouraged them to practice proper safety laws and overall help to make the community a safer place to live.

MOPAR CLUB

One change in the club program this year was the addition of the Mopar Club. The Mopar Club was for those students who own a Chrysler, Dodge, or Plymouth. The sponsor of the club was Robert Yajko, who also teaches science at Kiski. The officers were Mike Zamalis, President; Dennis Ramaley, Vice-President; and Albert Anderson, Secretary-/Treasurer. The Mopar Club planned an antique car show in the spring. According to Mike Zamalis, "I'm really glad we were able to get this club started. I just hope that Mr. Yajko and the others keep the club going." The club really provided a chance for its members to enjoy what they liked most: cars, cars, and more cars.

Foreigners At Heart

FRENCH CLUB

It was a busy year for the French Club because the members took part in numerous activities throughout the year to teach students about the French customs and traditions. They sent for pen pals from France, and around the middle of the year, they enjoyed themselves by focusing on French cartoons. As 1989 came to an end, the club stayed after school, and its members made an authentic French dinner, with the help of their sponsor Lois Baun.

GERMAN CLUB

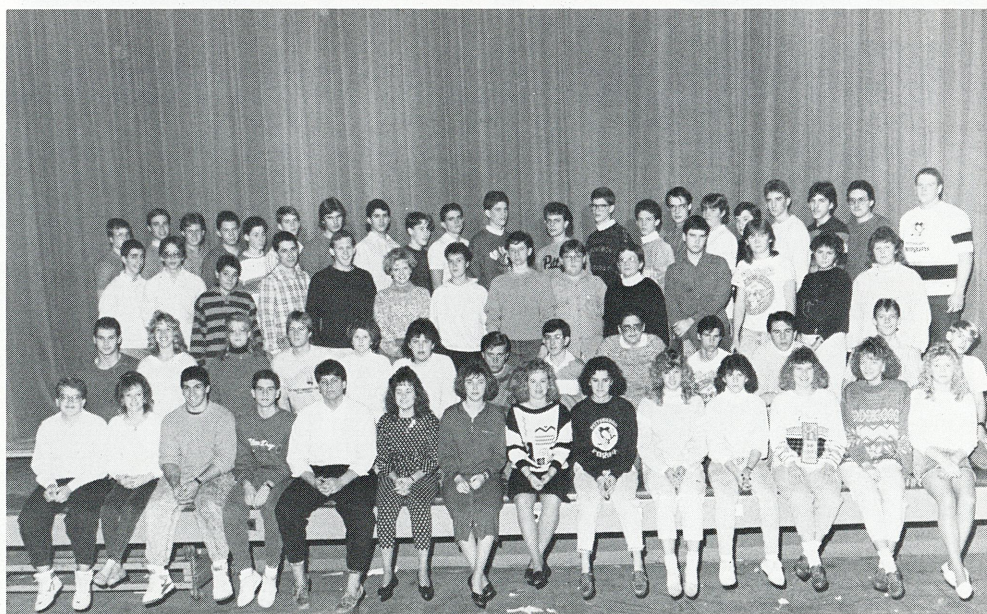

The 1988-89 German Club, sponsored by Thomas Pipkins, took part in several activities throughout the past year. At Christmas, members organized a bake sale with all proceeds going to the telethon. Also the club engaged in many educational field trips. During the spring, select students participated in Humanities day at the University of Pittsburgh at Greensburg. Equally interesting was the trip made by those accelerated students to a foreign language competition held at Slippery Rock University in April, which ended a truly stimulating year.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish club, involving students in grades 10-12, is an interesting and active foreign language club. Betty Love, club sponsor, aided in different activities. The club had no officers, which made it unique to other foreign language clubs. This year, the Spanish Club sold candy in the fall. The money earned was used for a trip to Soldiers and Sailors Hall in Pittsburgh to see a Spanish play. The organization also sold friendship bracelets to raise money for the telethon and contributed all money raised. The different activities achieved by the Spanish Club made it one of the most popular foreign language clubs at Kiski.

F.H.A. AND NEEDLECRAFT CLUB

The Future Homemakers of America Club and the Needlecraft Club, are designed to prepare students for their future. Members of the F.H.A. learned about things in the home such as washing, cleaning, cooking, and many other chores. Those who participated in the Needlecraft Club learned to sew numerous things such as clothing. This was able to produce a great satisfaction to those who sewed because they had items to view that they made with their own hands. These clubs were very beneficial to all who were involved because they learned what they needed to know for their future in order to be a success.

SKI CLUB

"To develop, improve, and execute good skiing at all ability levels, and to have a great time" are the two primary goals of the ski club. This year's club was under the direction of Jeffery Bissell, Dennis Dupstadt, Cammie Mazanek and Margaret Schultz. This year five weekly ski trips were taken to Hidden Valley and one to Seven Springs. Also a weekend to Snowshoe, West Virginia, was scheduled and paid for by various fund raisers. During the trips to Hidden Valley, all members were required to attend lessons which developed and improved even the most advanced skier's ability. Although the club was not "party central," members could be seen executing their skills on the slopes. Have you ever heard of a 360, a helicopter, or a daffey? According to Mark Ceraso, "Ski Club is a good place to experience the sport of skiing and to meet new people." "The club is also an opportunity to enjoy my favorite winter sport more," explained secretary, Jake Crouse. These students added a spark to the slopes as they enjoyed another fantastic extra-curricular event.

Diversified Interests

ART CLUB

The Art Club, comprised of art students and sponsored by Jack Jewart, began its second year with pizzazz. Meeting every Monday, the members were directed by Cindy Connors, president, and Jerry Ferraro, vice president.

Participation was intense, members were eager, and projects were a-fly-ing. Along with the usual captivating showcase outside the art room, the student body was again treated to a hallway of holiday greetings. Exuberant banners wishing "joy" and "peace" adorned the auditorium corridor.

Notice anything different about the Kiski Area telethon this year? Of course, it was the dynamic backdrop that a select group of club members painted. Many painstaking hours were spent brainstorming, sketching, painting, and polishing to make certain it was flawless.

In addition to these accomplishments, a small committee of artists let their spirit and talent free, while the sophomore building received some flash! Overnight, as if by magical, festive scenes had been painted on the windows.

Equally important were the door prizes for the annual Christmas door decorating contest. Mike Pahlman and Lolly Parry, two active members of the club, worked diligently for the best results.

The Art Club has brought much color and dash to Kiski Area High School. Moreover, Kiski students were able to view the fine work that these dedicated members produced.

VCR's and movie projectors to teachers. Teachers rely heavily on the A-V club to facilitate their teaching and make the learning for the students a more memorable experience. With the help of Glenn Stauffer, the club also taped the Gong Show as well as the annual Christmas telethon. Without the A-V club, the students of Kiski may not have had the chance to experience any of the new, exciting methods of teaching and learning.

COMPUTER CLUB

Members of the Computer Club, headed by Larry Dudzik, focuses their sights on having fun. This year, they directed their attention to producing an adventure game. Challenging their skills at programming, word processing, and teamwork, this project proved to be much fun. Games were not the only thing that the club concentrated on, however. This club also provided guidance to those students who planned to use computers in their future. With the aid of this club, many students familiarized themselves with the computers, and had fun in the process.

AFRO-AMERICAN CLUB

The Afro-American club adds cultural flair to Kiski Area. Sponsored by Thomas Pipkins, this club met once a month and planned many events such as attending area affairs dealing with black history. Another goal was a community project to benefit needy children. These students also focused in on the celebration of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday. The members chose as their officers: Tinie Waugh, President; LaBrean Hartsfield, Vice-President; Ruqaiyah Jordan, Secretary; and Yvette Caviness, Treasurer.

Learning The Techniques

The members of the Kiskizette staff and their sponsor, Eugene Iagemma, stylishly and skillfully deliver the news of our school. Six issues of this newspaper were published this year. Students who enrolled in this one semester course learned about everything that goes into printing a paper, including interviewing people and actually laying out the pages to the paper. They also typeset their own stories by themselves on the laser printer. Editor-in-chiefs were chosen for each semester, and the course offered yet another wonderful chance for the students at the Big K to become involved in our school.

Kiski's Spirit

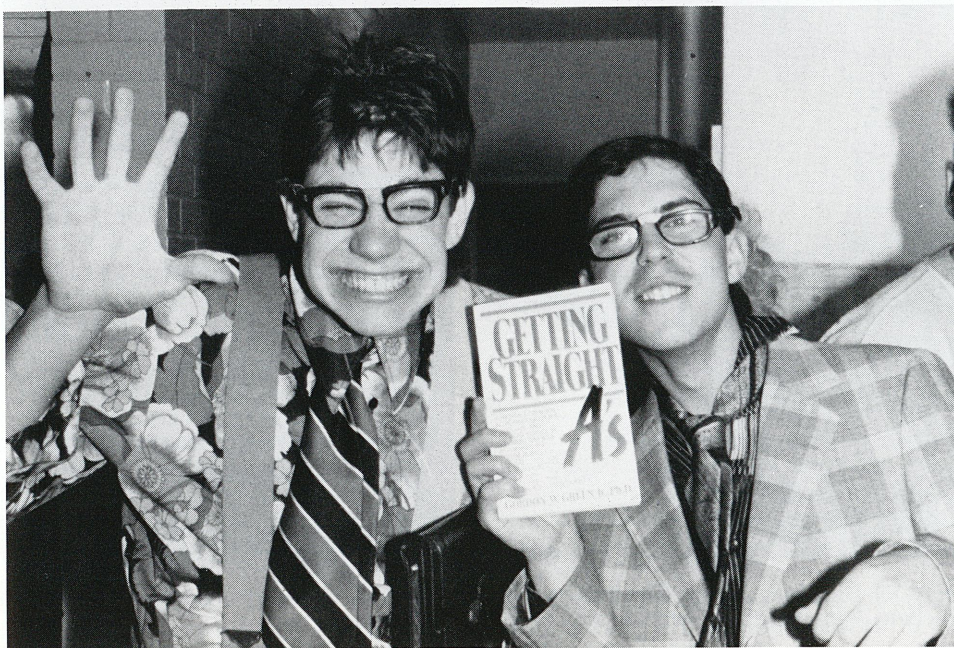

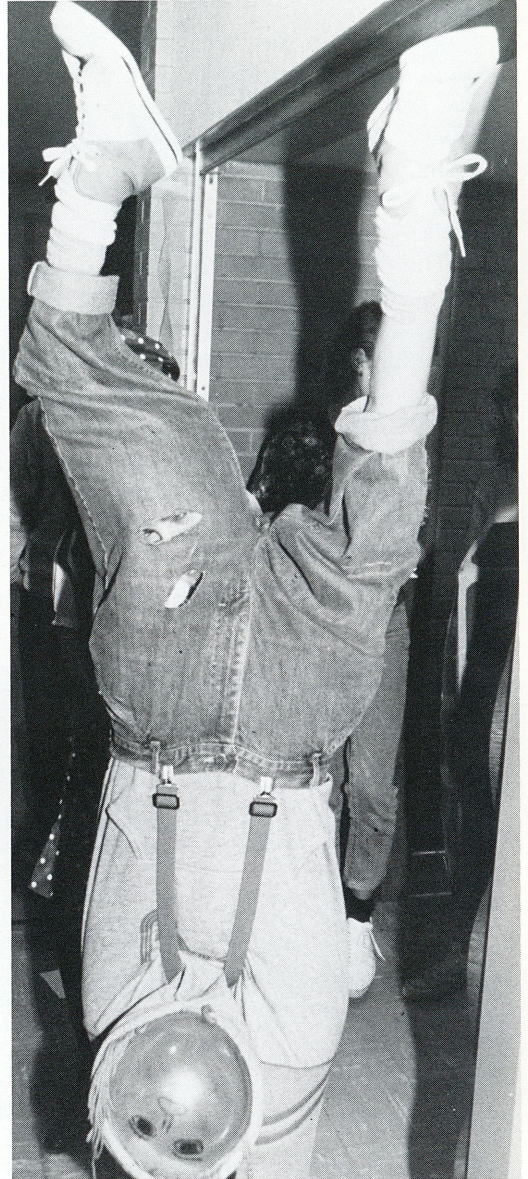

The Kiski Pride Club's main purpose is to promote and strengthen school spirit at pep assemblies and sporting events. The sponsor of the Pride Club was Max Israel. According to Jeff "Free" Stange, president, "I think the other students really enjoy it (Pride Club) because they can get involved a lot. I know that is why I like it." Some of the activities that the club took part in this year include buying pom-poms for all members and singing the national anthem at the boys varsity basketball team's first home section game. The Pride Club added a flair of style by generating their enthusiasm for everyone else.

Sr. Citizens' Luncheon

Every year in the middle of December, Kiski takes on the sights, sounds, and feelings of Christmas. This year, the Art Club painted festive characters on windows in the junior hallway. Also providing the high school with beautiful decorations, the homerooms competed in the annual Door Decorating Contest for the most creative door. Close to Christmas vacation, the Jazz Rock ensemble sang carols in every building. The Cavalier Choir also presented a classic, "The Messiah", at their Christmas concert. The highlights of this year's holiday season were the activities that helped the community. At the Senior Citizen's Banquet, sponsored by Student Council, elderly people in the area were served lunch by students and then taken on a tour of the high school. The annual Christmas Telethon also contributed to the community. Thousands of dollars, raised by students, were donated to the needy families in the Kiski Valley. These activities involved the true feelings of Christmas. The students who participated in them gave the greatest gift of all- a part of themselves.

The Pirate Parrot greets a young contributor.

Starting at the end of October, the Telethon committee made preparations for this year's annual Christmas Telethon. The committee consists of Student Council members who are chosen to plan this huge event sponsored by Max Israel. Each year, the monies raised are distributed to needy families in the Kiski Valley by local ministries. Surpassing the goal of ten-thousand dollars, this year's telethon was a spectacular success. Under the direction of co-chairpersons Debra Coleman and Stephen Herbster, the telethon committee organized the various groups that contributed to this success. These groups included the elementary and intermediate schools, the high school's clubs and students, and, of course, the audiovisual crew and Student Council. Guest appearances were also made by such local celebrities as the Pirate Parrot, Bill Bell the Clown, Mickey Morandini and WYDD's Shawn Israel. Everyone involved with this year's telethon was extremely pleased with the results.

Debbie Coleman and Stephen Herbster complete another successful telethon.

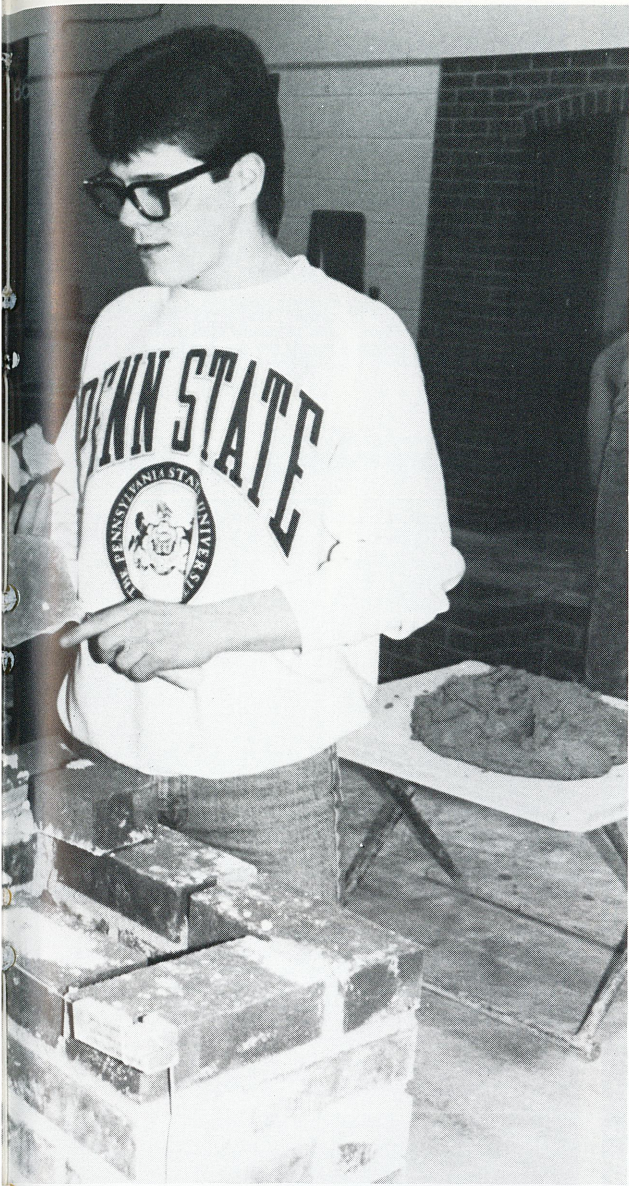

Vo-Tech

Those students who enjoy working with their hands are giving a chance to do so at the Northern Westmoreland Area Vocational-Technical school. The school, located in the New Kensington near Valley High School, educates students from Kiski Area, Burrell, Franklin Regional, and Valley. Students at Kiski are permitted to enter a Vo-Tech course of study their junior year. At this time, they schedule one half of the day's classes at the Vo-Tech School, while they continue to study math, history, English, and physical education at the high school. They are free to choose from numerous courses at Vo-Tech which include cosmetology, food service, automobile repair, carpentry, and art. Juniors travel to the New Kensington school at 8:00 a.m., while the seniors attend in the afternoon. Students attending the Vo-Tech school feel that the hands on experience which they receive is not only invaluable, but also fun because they have the chance to do something they enjoy. A definite advantage for students who enroll in vocational-technical training is that once they graduate, they may begin their employment search without the hassle of finding another institution that will further their education. These students gained the necessary background for their field in Vo-Tech. Most people do not realize that without these students, our society would be in trouble. Vo-Tech graduates service other people with their practical knowledge and skills which are vital to survive in today's world.

As the 1988-1989 school year draws to a close, so does our yearbook. Our dreams came true, and we shared them with you. Although this year's theme was "Out of Control", we worked as a team, and we kept it in our control.

... Perhaps becoming a senior is simply a realization. I now realize that without each of life's experiences, the good and the bad, I would not be who I am today. This extends far beyond school, friends, grades and dates. Each person, and each moment I spent with that person has changed my life. We must think of the hard times as times we have spent growing. No time is ever wasted when you are learning from those surrounding you. The true wisdom evolves from the appreciation of each experience and friendship, as it happens.

THE SUN LINGERS

The sun lingers over the ocean a little longer tonight, while I remember everyone I love
And wish I could hold them in my arms all at once. Words are so futile to speak of love, to heal hurts so pointless and unintended. Perhaps life's greatest pain and longing is the loneliness of missing friends I cannot call to my side.

Curse time and distance and all the banalities of life that tear us apart.

I didn't know when I left home I would leave the brothers I loved.

Time was so omnipresent, we had every day, every meal, forever.

I wish as I watch the disappearing sun that I could gather together all those I love and all that love me.

And remain in one house, one town, one union.

No one left out, no one unavailable, no one whose voice and words and smile could not be at my beck and call.

I miss you all so much, and love you all so profoundly,

And refuse to understand a world and destiny that keeps us apart.

But I am grateful for the friends that life has permitted to remain,

Grateful for the memories, the reunions that lie ahead,

The laughs and tears and stories that cannot be told enough.

Grateful that the sun lingers over the ocean a little longer tonight.

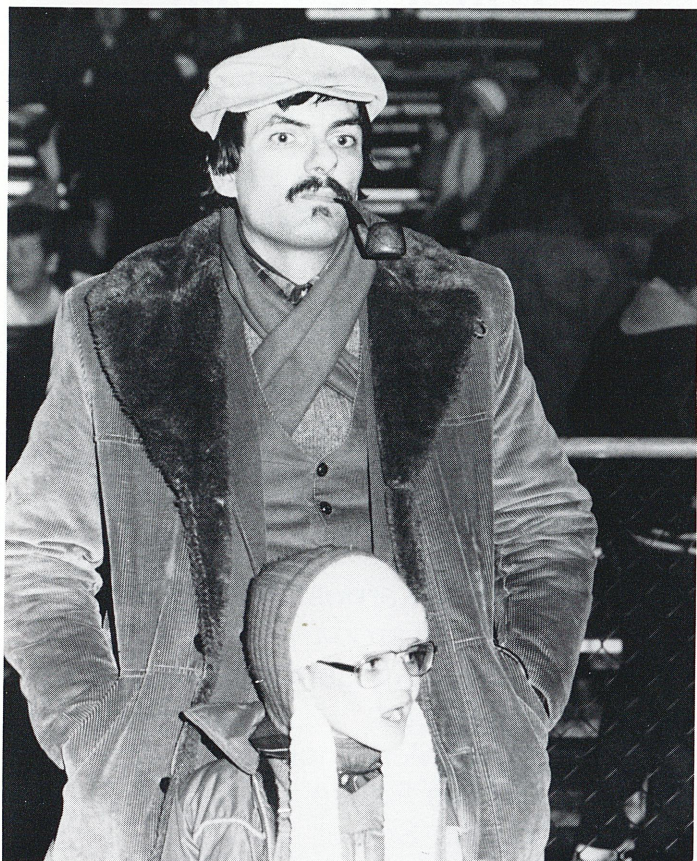

Seniors are finally beginning to realize the value of help from a friend. James Carroll and Tacie Tonks often work together, the best of buddies!

Walter Gill sings the senior blues with the assistance of David Fields.

"His Will Is Our Peace."

- Dante

The time came when all that is merely human failed,
And the best efforts of medics and wise men with all the tools of two thousand years of trying Came to naught. I was cut adrift from myself, destined to wither.

If I could not salvage a suitable reason to live.
Finally cut off from the omnipotence of parental help.
Finally segregated from the abundant generosity of friends.

Finally having exhausted the relief that the centuries had garnered from the vitals and occult theories of civilization's finest minds.

There were no relieving drugs or miracles, no soothing words enough or clever theories.

Only the simple words I heard as a child of God who cared
And could make a blind man see for no reason save love.

So I sought Him in simplicity and fear, perhaps in desperation,
More in doubt than faith, more in faltering words than bold eloquence.

I offered Him my energies all the days of my life if He would but attend my pleading, bring back the joy of morning, the serenity of the trees, the soothing resonance of sunset.
